ley and Benstead in voting to deny the petition.
COUNCILMAN Willys C. Blount then commented saying:
"I have heard with interest the comments that have been made here this evening. I have been on this council 12 years and in every case have voted to hold the line on industrial land. I have seen weeds grow in these acres. Now houses and schools cost money. Industry in Torrance is dragging its feet. It's time to stand up and be counted as industry has had ample time to avert this situation. I vote to rezone."

At this point Mayor Isen remarked:
"This is a storehouse of land for blue chip industries. You men seem to forget that an attempt is being made to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. I once had a dream that Torrance residents would be on such a wealthy tax base that they would have little to play on their homes...the advantageous situation will not be with us if we take this valuable land and open it for more residents."

IN FINAL voting for the rezoning, Bradford said:
"No one knows whether this is a wrong or right move. I have no interest in Mr. Wilson and only want to see done what is best for the city. If we have to hold the line we need time for further study, but, I can't in my own mind justify not voting for this tract."

With the vote at 4-3 for approval many of the spectators left the room after applauding Vico for his stand against the petition.
In other zoning actions, requests for waivers by five individuals recommended for approval by City Manager Wade Peebles, were granted.
The Council also appointed Mayor Isen delegate and Councilman Benstead alternate delegate to the American Municipal Association Congress to be held August 26-30 in Seattle, Wash.

munity and take the action to make it happen," Adsit warned the 86 community and industrial leaders who attended the meeting.
Co-chairmen of the event were Verne Hughes, local manager Bank of America, and William Richardson, manager, Marina Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Charles A. Woodcock, chairman of the chamber's Industrial Development committee, presided.

Construction on Hawthorne to End

The construction of Hawthorne Blvd. between Silver Spur Rd. and Palos Verdes Drive N., Palos Verdes, is in its final stages and is tentatively scheduled for completion during the week of Aug. 7, according to the County Road Dept.
Plans call for providing four lanes of pavement with full width grading and necessary drainage structures on 100 feet of right of way.
